

Summary Overview for 2026

The major headlines for 2026 are the ‘re-entry’ of most of the far planets, including Neptune, Uranus, Saturn, and Jupiter, entering new signs, along with the Moon’s Nodes shifting from Pisces and Virgo to Aquarius and Leo!

In 2025, Saturn, Uranus, and Neptune made brief sojourns in Aries, Gemini, and Aries again, respectively. Their initial entries served to activate some preliminary processes that will unfold much more fully in 2026. Jupiter will also enter Leo in 2026, Pluto is already in the early degrees of Aquarius and will be joined by the Lunar North Node while the Sun in Leo is conjunct Jupiter and both are opposing Pluto. The common denominator here is that all the signs mentioned are Fire and Air element signs, which are deemed ‘male’. Compared with the female elements of Water and Earth, which indicate a more conservative attitude and approach, the air-fueled fire will prove bold and brazen, determined to take much bigger risks.

Generally, people with predominantly Water and Earth element factors in their nature will have a more difficult time adapting than those with strong Fire and Air.

The fact that all the far planets will form harmonious aspects is helpful.

The following is a more detailed breakdown of planetary ingresses in 2026.

Neptune: On January 26, 2026, Neptune will re-enter Aries, the sign of new beginnings and pioneering initiatives to begin a 12.5-year cycle. The last time Neptune entered Aries, the American Civil War (1861-1865) began leading to the abolition of slavery followed by the ‘Reconstruction Era’, and the same year (1861) was the abolition of serfdom in Russia, the unification of Italy and the Tongzhi Restoration in China which was described by historian of the “Tongzhi Restoration”, Mary Wright, as the "last stand of Chinese conservatism", asserting that "not only a dynasty but also a civilization which appeared to have collapsed was revived to last for another sixty years by the extraordinary efforts of extraordinary men in the 1860s.”

This offers a good example of the ideals of Neptune upheld by the bold and assertive efforts of Aries.

Saturn: On February 13, 2026, Saturn will also re-enter Aries, where it will remain until early April 2028. The last time Saturn was in Aries was between 1996 and 1999 when the internet really gained momentum, and numerous associated technology companies began the world over.

So, we can expect bold initiatives and assertions by new trends and leaders, some of which and who will seem 'just and true', while others not so.

Uranus: On April 25, 2026, Uranus will re-enter Gemini. This will synchronize with the next major push to increase the speed and scope of the information highway. Just when it might have been assumed that we can't go any faster, it will undergo a turbo-charge activation, yet which will accelerate over the ensuing 7 years through late spring 2033.

Both Saturn and Neptune form an opportunistic lower sextile (60-degrees) aspects, (symbolically associated with intelligent, socially active and communicative Gemini), to regenerative Pluto in revolutionary Aquarius. This will synchronize with major waves of businesses, new and old, both adapting and emerging to align with the emerging digital economy.

Uranus in Gemini will also form upper sextile aspects, (symbolically associated with future-oriented, innovative and rebellious Aquarius) to Pluto, which is also in Aquarius, which means that we will experience a strong push to manifest the future now! This entire process will largely begin in February and will progressively accelerate throughout the year.

These events together indicate that Humanity is in the process of the birthing of a whole new era, which can probably be described with words like 'digital, technocratic, nanotech'..., and it will prove to be much more significant than many probably realize and that few can even imagine! The lead-up stages have been underway for many years, not least of all the internet era. Yet even it had many significant preliminary steps.

The foreshadowing events of the coming new era that were hinted at in 2025 will prove to be progressively more complex in 2026, culminating in the summer.

Pluto in Aquarius made the initial inroads, and its synchronistic activity is like dynamite blowing through the rock in the mountain and clearing anything else in the way that no longer aligns with the greater, destined process. Saturn in Pisces contributed to this clearing, if less dramatically, steadily disintegrating old structures at every level of society the world over.

When far planets enter new signs, only to retrograde back into the previous sign for a while before engaging in its full charge transit through the sign, the influences of the new sign are moderate, probably due to the fact that the planet is moving slowly and does not have time to accelerate. In this regard, the initial entry of Saturn and Neptune in Aries, and Uranus in

Gemini, respectively, is akin to seeds being planted, which do not show signs of growth for a while. Then the retrograde period can be likened to the time required for the seeds to germinate. Then, when the planet re-enters the sign, the sprouts begin to appear. So, while the seeds are active, observances of their eventual, destined influence can be described as subtle, yet some paying close attention will notice.

The march of re-entry in 2026 will begin with Neptune. Interestingly, as the planet symbolic of imagined ideals, like a clarion call piercing the air since its re-entry will be in pioneering, assertive Aries. This will occur on January 26/27, 2026.

Neptune will then be followed by Saturn on February 13/14 and finally by Uranus on April 25/26, 2026.

These dates are outlined to provide a longer-term perspective on the preparatory processes involved, highlighted by the Universal 9-Year that was 2025, the number of endings, completions and graduations, followed by Universal 1-Year 2026.

Pluto, already in Aquarius, is generating a proactive drive with all the torque of the 4th Fixed Sign that it is. In Aquarius, Pluto's influence requires us to step out of our isolation into collectives where team spirits culminate to exponential and transcendental levels where the whole is greater than the sum of its parts.

Jupiter is still in Cancer as of late Spring, supporting boosts of confidence in the overall dynamic, at both individual and collective levels, for better or worse, since confidence can inspire antagonists as much as heroes...

When the Lunar North Node enters Aquarius in late July, it will activate Uranus in Gemini, which will be in sextile to Neptune in Aries and in trine to Pluto in Aquarius, which will prove more than eventful; it will trigger an accelerating momentum of rapid change.

Not surprisingly, July in 2026 is a Universal 8-month, the number of power and drama.

So, this overview alone should be enough to provide you with the awareness needed to observe the destined synchronicities at play. Among the main points here is to help you see that the unfoldment of events is not merely random and based on circumstances and free will choices alone. Synchronicity or the meaningfulness of the flow of events is based on the realization that the universe or existence is consciousness made manifest and that it is woven with purpose, which we otherwise refer to as destiny, at both collective and individual levels.

Interestingly, free will is a core feature of this purposeful destiny. Free will is like constructing boats to sail across oceans, while destiny is akin to the world with oceans, currents and tides...
