

Neptune in Pisces and Aries

Although Neptune entered Pisces in 2011, this is hardly a new story, bringing attention to it at its tail end in Pisces at the end of 2025 is especially noteworthy.

It already entered Aries on March 29/30, advanced to 2 Aries 10 by July 4 due to turning retrograde, then re-entered Pisces on October 23, retreated to just 29 Pisces 22 by December 11, 2025, and then re-enters Aries on January 26, 2026.

Among the more significant factors in this process is that it has shared the critical 29th and 1st degrees of Pisces and Aries respectively, along with Saturn. This is especially noteworthy because 29 Pisces is the Omega degree of the entire Zodiac and 0 Aries is the Alpha degree.

Also significant is the fact that although they have been very close throughout much of 2025, Saturn and Neptune will only form their first official conjunction while in Aries on February 20, 2026, at 0 Aries! This is very significant indeed since 0 Aries is truly the Alpha degree of the entire Zodiac.