

Saturn in Pisces and Aries

Saturn in Pisces = Surrender gracefully and do not take the widespread dissolution of the social fabric and the economy personally. Focus to adapt patiently and prepare for Saturn in Aries!

Saturn in Aries = Focus to determine a clear direction and work with a strategic plan to enter new territory somehow, and/or to take different approaches.

2025 began with Saturn direct and at 14 Pisces 31. By May 24, 2025, it entered Aries, before turning retrograde again on July 13, 2025, at 1 Aries 56. It re-entered Pisces on September 1, 2025, and retreated back to 25 Pisces 09 by November 27, 2025, when it turned Direct again and will re-enter Aries on February 13/14, 2026, where it will remain by transit until April 13, 2028!

These technical details and their implications will not be commonly applied or understood; however, you can play Astrologer and see if you have any angles or planets near this degree or in Pisces or Aries.

Elaboration of Saturn in Pisces

Saturn is considered the planet of karma, and Pisces is also the reservoir sign of accumulated karmas. When combined, the theme of karma is increased. So, Saturn in Pisces symbolizes what often manifests as karmic returns, often in the way of apathy and lack of direction. Commonly, if located in the Birth Chart, it indicates an absent parent, usually the father, but sometimes mother, if father played the more maternal role, or the absence was less physical and simply a factor of relative mental and emotional neglect.

Saturn in Pisces is not dynamic in the outer sense, often associated with various modes of disintegration, both personally and collectively, and can be understood as marking periods that often amount to people feeling lost and confused. Yet, the disintegration process can, admittedly, prove dynamic and dramatic too, which it has and continues to be.

Some examples since Saturn entered Pisces in early March 2023 include the fact that many long-standing business and brands with household names either downsized or went bankrupt altogether, the opioid crisis and homelessness escalated dramatically, the economy has progressively slipped into a deep recession, and issues with open borders in the USA have flooded the country with illegal immigrants.

In a general sense, this cycle is effectively synchronizing with themes of dissolve, delete and disintegrate associated with many of the structures that we have all come to generally rely upon, understand, and trust. In this regard, many of the established structures of society will melt away and make way for a whole new set of 'norms' that especially began in Spring 2025 when Saturn initially entered Aries.

Saturn in Aries can certainly prove dynamic. Like Mars in Cancer, Saturn is generally categorized as a Cardinal planet and Aries is a Cardinal sign, symbolic of action and initiative. The main issue with Saturn in Aries is that it can prove rash and misdirected. While there is a lot to say about Saturn in Aries and the approximate 2.5-year cycle it implies starting again on February 13/14, 2026, the simple message for now is as follows: Prepare for a time period that could prove to be dynamic, bold, assertive, and even aggressive and violent.
